Norbert Güthling, Director

Dear Reader,

It is with great pleasure that we look back on 35 years of the Humboldt-Institut. Opening the school in Schloss Ratzenried in 1977, we started with just one student. Now, however, we have recently set a new record: last year our program centers together welcomed over 1.000 students in a single week. We would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who has contributed to this enormous success. While we wish most of all to thank you, our readers, who have been attending or recommending our courses for years, we would also like to extend our gratitude to all employees, patrons and supporters of the Humboldt-Institut.

The number of course participants is not all that has increased over the past 35 years – the number of program centers we operate has grown as well, and, of course, we have also steadily optimized the quality and diversity of our offerings. In 2013, our participants were able to register for German courses at four year-round locations (Bad Schussenried, Constance, Lindenberg, Schloss Ratzenried) and at 14 other summer locations. As an additional, unique advantage, we also offer a broad array of internationally recognized German exams that build on our German courses and that our students can use for their secondary schooling, university education or careers. Our restructured homepage now more clearly presents these various educational options.

One highlight of these is our boarding school in Lindenberg, which, as of last year, not only teaches German as a foreign language – it also serves as a boarding school for students attending the Lindenberg Gymnasium in order to complete their final Abitur exams there.

Because our students are always at the heart of all of these innovations and developments, we are naturally pleased that the number of participants in our programs grew last year. Even more importantly, however, our participants also gave us high marks across the board.

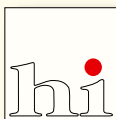

We would be happy to welcome you to one of our 18 sites in 2013 and to work with you as we continue to write the Humboldt-Institut story.

Yours,

Norbert Güthling

Das Humboldt-Institut

Why study German at the Humboldt-Institut?

The Humboldt-Institut e.V. is a non-profit association established in 1977 for teaching German as a foreign language. In the three-plus decades of its existence, over 40,000 students from 160 countries have taken part in the Institute's intensive language courses. From a single program center at Ratzenried Castle – which serves as its administration headquarters – the Humboldt-Institut has grown to a network of 18 program sites throughout Germany.

The Institute owes the constant increase in demand in no small part to the fact that, since its establishment, it has always placed a great deal of importance on both challenging as well as supporting each student to the greatest possible extent. This includes, for instance, an extensive placement test that all participants take on the first day of classes so that the teachers can make a careful assessment of each individual's prior knowledge.

Tests are also conducted each week to monitor student performance with the aim of ensuring that all classes provide students with the best possible support in the learning process. The Humboldt-Institut does not make comfortable compromises in this regard, nor does it hesitate to move students down a level if they continue to demonstrate considerable deficiencies for the level to which they had been assigned.

Small but fine linguistic nuances are often what prevents students from achieving perfection. And it is because the Humboldt-Institut aims for perfection that so many students participate in its intensive German courses, where they can truly gauge their success.

- No other school is faster and more efficient in preparing students for internationally recognized language certification such as the "TestDaF" exam or the "telc Deutsch B1" test ("Zertifikat Deutsch").
- The Humboldt-Institut is the only institution in Germany that goes beyond the six internationally standardized language levels of the Common European Framework of Reference, as it offers a proficiency level of 5 weeks duration on top of the 10,5 months of language instruction at the A1, A2, B1, B2, C1 and C2 levels.
- At the Humboldt-Institut a total beginner with no previous German skills can usually successfully complete the TestDaF exam in as little as 8 months.

- Courses at the Humboldt-Institut are taught in small groups averaging 5 - 10 participants by highly motivated native speakers with outstanding qualifications. Courses generally cover 30 hours per week (with one course hour equaling 45 minutes).

- Most of the schools of the Humboldt-Institut are boarding schools, which enhances not only the learning process, but also the enjoyment of the common experience.

- All prices are transparent, as course fees include tuition, books, accommodation, full board, leisure time activities and excursions for most of the course centers of the Humboldt-Institut.
- In 18 program centers all over Germany the Humboldt-Institut tailors its classes to the needs of the target groups (from juniors of 8 years of age to business executives).
- The Humboldt-Institut guarantees for a swift and thorough learning process due to the total immersion program and reliable tutoring. This way course participants learn German faster and hence get more for their money!
- The Humboldt-Institut offers German courses that prepare students for the next step in their education, regardless of the path they choose (secondary school, university, career).

Unterricht

Instruction

Types of Programs

One of the strengths of the Humboldt-Institut lies in the intensity of instruction due to the high amount of lessons per week as well as the small class sizes.

The following types of programs are available:

Intensive Courses

30 lessons per week

Junior Intensive Courses and Summer Courses

25 lessons per week

Crash Courses in Mini Groups

40 lessons per week

One-to-one Crash Courses

25, 30 and 40 lessons per week

Classes

Classes are held Monday through Friday except on bank holidays. One-to-one, mini group courses, as well as TestDaF preparation courses are taught regardless of bank holidays. Each class lasts for 45 minutes and is usually attended by 5 to 10 students, in mini groups by 2 to 4 participants. Classroom instruction focuses on listening and reading comprehension, writing skills, grammar and expression.

Bank Holidays 2013

January 1, March 29, April 1, May 1, May 9, May 20, May 30, October 3, November 1, December 25, December 26

Finding the Right Level

All students are expected to take a placement test on the first day of the course. Based on their results students will be assigned to a class of their language level. During the summer months, a placement test is given on the first day of the course, i.e., the day is generally for orientation with no instruction.

We distinguish the following 6 + 1 levels according to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR):

Level		Duration
A1	Elementary 1 total beginners	5 weeks
A2	Elementary 2	5 weeks
B1	Intermediate 1 leads to telc Deutsch B1	5 weeks
B2	Intermediate 2 leads to telc Deutsch B2	10 weeks
C1.1	Advanced 1 leads to TestDaF	5 weeks
C1.2	Advanced 1 leads to telc Deutsch C1	5 weeks
C2	Advanced 2	10 weeks
Proficiency		5 weeks
	total duration	50 weeks

The duration is based on courses with 30 lessons per week. The Proficiency Level is a special level of instruction offered at the Humboldt-Institut.

Online Placement Test

If you wish to test your German skills in advance, you may do so by taking our online placement test (www.humboldt-institut.org).

Teachers

Our teachers are highly trained native speakers with university degrees, who use modern teaching methods.

Textbooks

The Humboldt-Institut provides its students with all the textbooks they need in class at no charge.

Homework

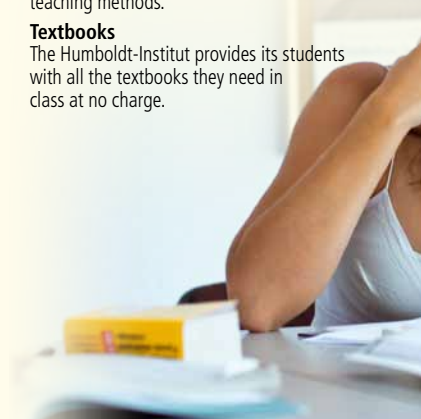

Instructors regularly assign homework so that students can build upon what they have learned and be prepared for class. Homework assignments are of reasonable size so that students still have plenty of time for extracurricular activities. Written homework is corrected and handed back to students so that they can monitor their progress.

Weekly and Skill-level Tests

Participants in all programs take a weekly test so that students and teachers can assess the progress made during the preceding week. Comprehensive exams are also given at the conclusion of each level of instruction.

Certificates

At the end of the program all participants are awarded a certificate confirming the number of classroom hours attended as well as the skill level that the student achieved. Grades are given for listening and reading comprehension, oral and written expression and grammar skills.

Unterkunft & Freizeit

Accommodation & Leisure Time

Room and Board

Students are generally housed in boarding schools and well-maintained boarding houses with group accommodation. Students in Meersburg stay with host families. Full room and board is included in the program fee for most of our program locations.

Prüfungen

Examinations

Students at the Humboldt-Institut can complete internationally recognized, standardized tests at all levels of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages. The following overview shows the tests along with the language level certification they will obtain if they pass a given test:

Language Examination	Level	Age	Test Center

telc Examinations

The telc (The European Language Certificates) company is an internationally recognized test provider that worked with the Goethe-Institut to develop the well-known "Zertifikat Deutsch" (ZD) test, now known as the "telc Deutsch B1" test. Language certifications are geared toward the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages, making them internationally comparable and improving students' educational and professional opportunities.

telc Deutsch A1 - C1

These general language tests let you show how well you have mastered the German language in daily situations, such as trips, leisure activities or at work. Each exam consists of a written individual test as well as an oral exam conducted with another student or in a group.

telc Deutsch A1 Junior

The child-friendly format of this test is geared toward our youngest learners. The test does not take long to complete, which, along with its use of pictures and its simple and easy-to-understand tasks, tailors it to the cognitive abilities of children.

telc Deutsch Schule

Because their format corresponds to that of general language tests, these tests for secondary school students are equivalent to the more general tests. The telc Deutsch Schule tests, however, also cover subject matters geared specifically to young people's life and to what they know, i.e. their jobs, their friends, what they do for fun, and what it's like to live in another country. A telc test also allows young people to demonstrate their commitment, interest and determination.

telc Deutsch Beruf

Geared specifically toward professionals, these tests are designed with an eye to the format of general language tests. Not only will this additional certification allow you to demonstrate your language skills to HR representatives – it will also showcase your initiative and dedication.

telc Deutsch C1 Hochschule

This test is geared toward adults who would like to demonstrate their German language skills because they wish to begin studying, are already studying or hope to work in an academic field at a German university. The exam tests the extremely advanced German skills needed at the university level.

TestDaF

("Test Deutsch als Fremdsprache")
The TestDaF exam demonstrates that a candidate has sufficient German skills for admission to a German university if he or she earns the minimum TestDaF level of 4 in each of the four exam sections. As a standardized exam for meeting university language requirements, TestDaF is the equivalent of the DSH test, while offering numerous other advantages: Students may take the exam as many times as they wish and, thanks to the uniformity of the exam, they can target specific areas as they prepare (see TestDaF Preparatory Course, p. 11). The TestDaF also provides valuable evidence of language ability for anyone who wants to do research in Germany or who wants to document their skills.

Humboldt students with no prior knowledge of German would need roughly 7.5 months to reach the required level of language skills. For those participants who have completed level C1.1, we strongly recommend our special, two-week TestDaF preparatory course, which builds upon their language skills. The Humboldt-Institut has licensed testing centers in Constance and Ratzenried.

Deutsch + Studium

German + University

The Concept

With the job market becoming increasingly networked and globalized, successfully earning a college degree in your home country no longer guarantees you a job. International and intercultural skills are in demand throughout the world, and studying in Germany gives international students a clear edge over their competitors on the international job market. "Made in Germany" is a synonym for quality the world over. Plus, besides its reputation for top quality and ideal research opportunities, studying in Germany is also relatively inexpensive compared to other countries. Invest in your future today – studying in Germany will open up international opportunities.

The Program

The Humboldt-Institut provides consultation and support to interested international students seeking university placement in Germany. We will review your high-school or other academic records from your home countries and determine whether you qualify for direct or indirect (i.e., with a preparatory course) university admission in Germany. Prospective students can attend our year-round center in Constance to attain the language skills they need for university admission within a very short period of time. By staying at the site's boarding school, you will not only experience a markedly international, German-language immersion environment, you will also be able to focus all of your concentration on your German studies – full room and board, advisers and organized leisure activities are all included in course fees.

Health Insurance

Health insurance provided by the Humboldt-Institut (€ 2.- per day) is only valid for the duration of the language program – not while pursuing university studies. For this reason, we recommend that participants secure health insurance in their home country for the entire duration of their stay.

Registration

The program operates all year round and is timed to coincide with the summer and winter semester schedule at German universities and vocational colleges.

Deutsch + Praktikum

German Course + Internship Program

The Concept

Companies increasingly want employees with international work experience. With an internship at a German company you can improve your language skills while gaining practical know-how. The opportunity to participate in everyday life in the German workplace will give you keen insight into the viewpoints and practices of your German customers and business partners. Secure a place for yourself on the international job market today - invest in job experience abroad.

The Program

The Humboldt-Institut organizes internships at German companies for young professionals and students. Interns will need to collaborate well within their companies, and to ensure that they can, instructors at our program center in Constance prepare interns for the language challenges that they will face while on the job.

Program participants can begin their internship once they have completed Level B2.

Duration of Language Course

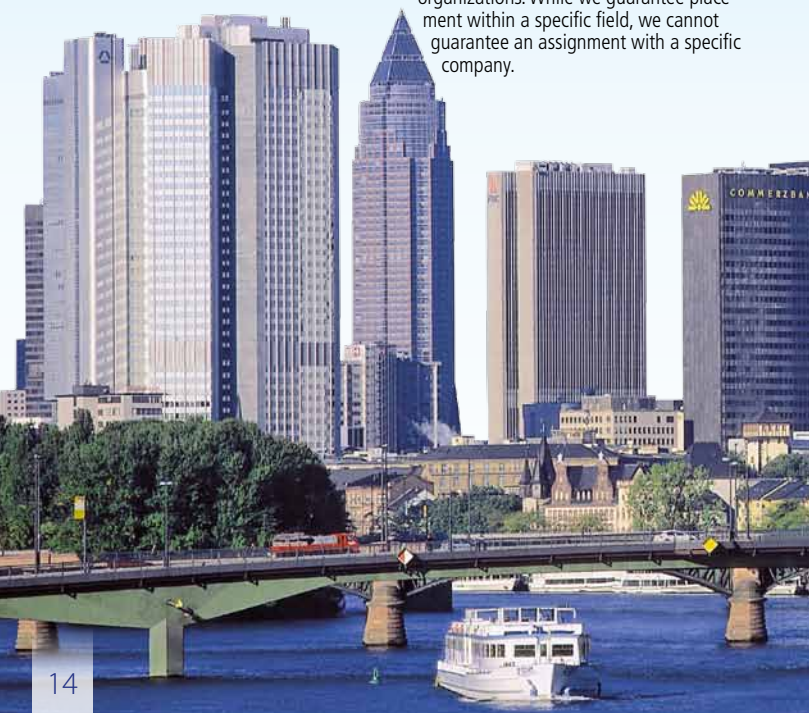

For participants with no prior German: roughly 6 months (at 30 classroom hours per week). For participants with advanced skills: at least four weeks.

Duration of Internship

Between 2 and 12 months

Employers

Internships are arranged at German and international companies, institutions, and organizations. While we guarantee placement within a specific field, we cannot guarantee an assignment with a specific company.

age 18 and older

Work Hours

Internships are full-time assignments; participants may not, for instance, attend language courses in the morning and work in the afternoon.

Compensation

Most internships are unpaid.

Administration Fee

€ 400.-

Language Course Fees

See page 11.

Health Insurance

Health insurance provided by the Humboldt-Institut (€ 2.- per day) is only valid for the duration of the language program - not during the internship. For this reason, we recommend that participants secure health insurance in their home country for the entire duration of their stay.

Accommodation

For a small fee we will be happy to assist you in your search for suitable accommodation near your workplace.

Registration

The program runs throughout the entire year, and candidates may register at any time. In order to find you a suitable internship and to secure your work permit, we would ask that you register at least three months before your internship is to begin. Internships can only be assigned to students who also book a minimum four-week language course at the Humboldt-Institut at the same time.

Schulvorbereitungs

School Preparatory Course

ages 13-17

The Concept

After successfully completing Humboldt level B2, our students will be able to continue their education in Germany at a Gymnasium. Here they can complete their leaving exams (see p. 28 / Secondary Education in Germany), which will qualify them for admission to a German university. In order to ease the transition between the German course and school attendance, we offer a special preparatory course aimed at teaching the terminology and methodology in the most important subject areas taught in school.

Content

The school preparatory course is organized into subject area modules such as the natural sciences (mathematics, physics, biology, chemistry) and the humanities (history, politics, geography, religion). The fine arts are covered as well. In addition to acquiring important technical vocabulary, students also learn how to summarize texts, work with sources, perform research and give presentations. Role-playing simulation games and project work also teach students how to work in group settings.

Deutsch + Schulbesu

Secondary Education in Germany

The Concept

Going to school and living abroad for a period of time fosters adolescents' development and ensures a successful future for them in a job market that is becoming more and more international - studying in Germany would enhance any resume. Our "Going to school in Germany" program is geared toward highly motivated pupils between ten and seventeen years of age, and offers them the chance to participate in regular classes in German boarding schools. Living amongst German classmates, these teenagers enhance their language skills and prepare to pass the "Abitur", which is required for university admittance in Germany.

Prerequisites

Besides having to demonstrate generally above average academic performance, foreign candidates must also have sufficient knowledge of the German language to be admitted to a German school. This is why they are asked first of all to attend an intensive German language course for several months at our language center in Bad Schussenried (see page 22) or in Lindenberg (see page 24). Having completed level B2, students are then transferred to a boarding school and integrated in a class according to their age and performance level.

Preparatory Courses in Bad Schussenried and in Lindenberg

Our schools in Lindenberg and in Bad Schussenried offer our guests ideal conditions to feel at ease and get used to a life in Germany. High-quality courses paired with a small number of students per class assure that students pick up the language quickly and thoroughly.

Program Schedule

Depending on their prior skill level, students will need approx. two to six months to reach the required level of German (completion of Humboldt level B2). Afterwards, we offer our students a 5-week preparatory course (see p. 26).

After this, they will switch to a German boarding school and stay there either until the end of the school year or until they complete their "Abitur". The Humboldt-Institut cooperates with highly respected boarding schools throughout Germany and will gladly help students find the school that is right for them.

Schmallenberg with a population of 26,000 is located in the "Land of a Thousand Mountains" on the edge of the Rothaargebirge. This historic city welcomes its visitors with traditional half-timbered houses and spectacular surroundings. Countless forests and mountains make this the perfect starting point for an active program of leisure activities and excursions.

We will be hosted by the Akademie Bad Fredeburg, which is located in a little spa town of the same name. The picturesque center of this typical health resort of the beautiful Sauerland region is only a few minutes' walk away from the school, as are an indoor water fun park and a miniature golf course. This program center is especially popular with our students, not only because of the very attractive house with its appealing atmosphere, but also due to the fact that courses can be started or completed every week.

During the time of the summer courses we offer our students not just German courses, but also football practice. It is entrusted in the hands of an experienced and accredited coach. At the end of the football course, matches against teams from the Schmallenberg-area will take place, during which our students may prove that they successfully adapted tactics, athleticism, and artistry to their game. This course will be held in July.

The City

Vienna, the city with the highest quality of life in the world, unites tradition and modernity in its own unique way. With 1.7 million inhabitants, Vienna is both Austria's capital and its largest city - and the site of the first Humboldt-Institut program in neighboring Austria. A true highlight of this program site is the location of the German courses: on board a school ship right along the Donauinsel! After class, Vienna also offers what may be the world's finest cultural scene: besides the old city and Schönbrunn Palace, both of which are UNESCO World Cultural Heritage sites, Vienna also boasts countless royal residences and palaces, museums, famous buildings and landmarks, the most internationally known of which are St. Stephen's Cathedral and the Ferris wheel in Prater park. Coffeehouses, Sachertorte, Wiener Schnitzel and the Naschmarkt: architectural monuments are not all that Vienna has to offer – the city's wide variety of attractions cater to every taste!

German for accompanying parents

We are pleased to offer a German course that you can take at the same location as your child. Held in the mornings, your class will be separate from that of your child, as the course contents will be different: children's courses aim to improve all of the language skills your child will need later on when taking German classes in your home country; the objective for parents, however, is to teach practical German that will be useful for everyday living. Course offerings cover levels A1 through B1 of the Common European Framework of Reference. While you will be housed separately from the children (in private rooms in the castle) and participate, in some cases, in separate recreational activities, weekend excursions will be offered for parents and children together.

Parents' Course

- 25 lessons per week
- Mini groups (2 - 4 participants per group)
- Levels: A1 - B1

Accommodation for Parents

beautiful double rooms (with shower/WC) in the castle

Board

- 3 main meals and 2 snacks

Leisure activities + Excursions

You are more than welcome to participate in your child's extracurricular activity program. Excursions for parents and children will be offered on weekends. Extra program offerings will be organized for parents.

Included are

Course instruction and books, full board, leisure program, weekly excursions, entrance fees, a certificate and round-the-clock supervision for the children

Sprachkursgruppen

Language Course Groups

Our Offer

Das Humboldt-Institut organizes language courses at its program centers for various groups, including school groups, at very attractive rates. Students participating at those centers accommodating group reservations will receive free transfers plus a complimentary space for an accompanying adult (for groups of 10 or more). Many locations even offer reduced group rates.

Although most our program sites only offer German courses in the summer, the Lindenberg, Bad Schussenried, Meersburg, Constance and Ratzenried centers can accommodate groups through-out the year. Attractive rates are available for courses reserved outside the summer months.

Students staying for at least two weeks will be integrated into courses already in progress for international students. Separate instruction is given to those staying for shorter periods of time.

In the afternoon students can test their knowledge and try out what they have learned on classmates from all over the world. This will enhance their motivation, promote tolerance, and contribute to the fun of speaking a foreign language.

During the off-season, the terms offered at our year-round center in Lindenberg and Bad Schussenried (for youth and teens aged 10 to 17) are especially economical.

Instructors and program supervisors are housed in single rooms with private facilities at all program sites.

Extracurricular Activities

After classes and on weekends, we organize half-day and full-day excursions, contests and games (please see the sample on page 7).

In Lindenberg we offer skiing lessons and snow hiking in winter. While we organize a variety of daily after-class activities all year round, we are also happy to consider ideas and suggestions offered by students, instructors and program supervisors. If requested, we guarantee reliable supervision around the clock.

Program centers for groups

The following program centers accept reservations for groups (see page 51). When booking, please take into account the maximum group size as well as the different age groups for each of the schools.
